PLAN OF THE BOOK.

EACH of the children of William Smith[1] will be found at the head of one of the branches of the family tree.

This brings the parents, children, and grandchildren of a family together, in preference to having them registered all through the book in generations.

The generation to which each person belongs, however, will be known by the small figure on the right of a name.

The number of a child is practically the name by which it will be identified, as the same number always means the same person.

At a marriage the number is put in brackets for distinction.

EXPLANATION OF LETTERS AND FIGURES.

A small b. for born; m. for married; unm. for unmarried; d. for daughter or died; n. c. for no children.

Successive generations will be understood by the given names with their generations as found in the book, which read from right to left, as follows:—

(James H.[7], George A.[6], George[5], Ann[4], Samuel[3], Thomas[2], William[1]).

FOR DATES.

4, 1, 1825, is April 1, 1825. The first figure for the month.

WILLIAM SMITH.

Of the early life and family of William Smith there is but little known. He was a member of the Society of Friends, and came from Yorkshire, England, to the province of Pennsylvania a young man, unmarried, in 1684.

The ship in which he crossed the ocean landed below Philadelphia. At that place he accepted an invitation to go up the river in a boat to the residence of Phineas Pemberton.

At that place, it was said, "the new-comers were entertained with a great deal of hospitality." He remained there long enough to obtain a general knowledge of the character of the country, its settlements and vacant land, and then pushed his way back through the wilderness to Wrightstown.

His first purchase of land was one hundred acres of John Chapman, who had just settled at the place.

At that time he was one of the only two white men living in what is now Wrightstown Township. The Indians, however, were numerous and very friendly.

On a re-survey of his purchase it was found to contain one hundred and fifty acres. He subsequently made another purchase of one hundred and fifty acres adjoining his other land.

It was situated on the southeast side of the Park, extending to the Newtown line, and bounded a short distance on Neshaminy. A certain percentage of his land was in the town square, undivided, and held in common with others who owned land in the Park. In 1717, the owners of the property, finding they had no use for a Park, became dissatisfied and mutually agreed to have it surveyed and laid out, giving each person the boundary lines of the land to which he was entitled. This was the last of the Park, at Wrightstown, except in history.

Another purchase of land is described in the original warrant, found amongst the old musty papers in the Land Office, at Harrisburg, of which the following is a copy:—

"Warrant to William Smith for 200 acres in Highlands, in Pennsylvania." By the Commissioners of Property.

Upon an agreement made with William Smith, of Wrightstown, in the County of Bucks, for two hundred acres of vacant land at Windybush Hill, near the said township, sold to him by us for fifty pounds, money of this Province, of the present currency, to be forthwith paid.

These are to authorize and require thee to survey and lay out unto the said William the said quantity of 200 acres, or thereabouts, in a regular tract, bounding on the lines of the neighboring lands in the place aforesaid, and make return thereof into the Secretary's office.

Which survey, in case the said William complies with the agreement aforesaid, shall be valid, otherwise shall be void and of no effect.

Given under our hands and the seal of the Province at Philadelphia, the 28th day of the second month, 1709.

EDW'D SHIPPEN,
JAMES LOGAN.

To JACOB TAYLOR,
Surveyor General.

The hill was windy because it was high and bleak, and covered with scrub-oak bushes on which the leaves hung all winter.

This peculiarity of the hill was made known to the pioneer settlers by the Indians as Windy Bush.

In 1690, as will be seen in another place, William Smith married Mary Croasdale.

Her parents, Thomas and Agnes Croasdale, both deceased, brought a certificate for themselves and children from Settle Monthly Meeting, England, dated 4th month 7, 1682. The family came in the ship Welcome, and arrived in the province 8th month 27, 1682.

In 1716, Mary, wife of William Smith, died, leaving eight children, two sons and six daughters. She was buried in the old graveyard at Logtown (Penn's Park).

In 1720, he married Mercy ———, and had by this marriage five sons and two daughters.

He died in 1743, on his Wrightstown farm, where he had lived from the time he first came to the place.

In his last will, dated 30th of 10th month, 1740, he gave his "great Bible to his daughter, Margaret Pearson, during her natural life, and then to her daughter, Mary Pearson."

Mary Pearson married John Hulme a year after the death of her grandfather, and carried the Bible into that family, where it was the family Bible many years, and is still owned by one of the family, in Hulmeville, of the sixth generation.

COPY OF THE MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE.

Whereas, William Smith and Mary Croasdale, both of the province of Pennsylvania, having declared their intentions of taking each other as husband and wife before several monthly meetings of the people of God, called Quakers, according to the good order used among them, whose proceedings thereon after deliberate consideration and consent of parents and relations, consent being approved by said meetings, the publication thereof having been made according to the law of the province.

Now these are to certify to whom it may concern, that for the full determination of their intentions, this 20th day of Ninth month 1690, they the said William Smith and Mary Croasdale appeared in a public solemn assembly of the said people, met together for the end and purpose, at the house of John Chapman, at Wrightstown, in the county of Bucks, according to the example of the Holy men of God, surrounded in the spirit of Truth.

Then the said William Smith taking the said Mary Croasdale by the hand did openly declare as followeth: Friends, in the presence and fear of God, and before you his people, I take Mary Croasdale to be my wife, promising to be to her a loving and faithful husband till death separate us.

And then and there in the said assembly, the said Mary Croasdale in like manner declared as followeth: Friends, in the presence and fear of God and before you his people, I take William Smith to be my husband, promising to be to him a loving and obedient wife till death separate us.

And the said William and Mary his wife, as a further confirmation thereof, did then and there to these presents set their hands, and we whose names are hereunto subscribed as witnesses, have also to those subscribed our hands the day and year above written.
